

STORMS LAST NIGHT CAUSED MUCH DAMAGE

LIGHTNING MOST INTENSE AND MANY PERSONS BADLY FRIGHTENED.

MANY BUILDINGS BURN

Losses Reported Throughout the County in Many Different Localities.

After months of drouth, the storm last night, with its intense lightning, the fearful thunder claps and the heavy rain brought terror to many a household. While no real damage was done in the city beyond the striking of the fire alarm system causing the bell to ring one tap, the first storm was shortly after eight, and the second one came about three this morning.

Near Johnston, the large barn of P. H. Murphy was struck by a bolt and set afire, the building with its contents being destroyed. The exact loss is not known but it is estimated at about five thousand dollars. A threshing crew had been working at the farm yesterday and one hundred and fifty bushels of barley and fifty bushels of oats, which were stored there, were consumed. A large amount of hay fodder and straw also went up in the flames. The live stock was saved, however, the horses and cattle being led out before the structure was destroyed. There was but little insurance on the barn and the grain was not insured at all. Two valuable horses, owned by James Morton and Wallace Lamb, which were pastured in the fields, were hit by lightning and killed. The barn was one of the landmarks of the county. It was built in 1840.

Fire at Chambers Farm. All the farm buildings on the Chambers farm, one half mile south of Milton Junction, tenanted by William McBride and his sister, were destroyed by fire last night, the conflagration resulting from a bolt of lightning. The fire started in a large barn which was filled with hay and burned rapidly. Other buildings caught and they, too, were destroyed. Neighbors and residents of the junction formed a bucket brigade and prevented the destruction of the home. The horses and cattle stabled in the barn were also saved. The loss is in the neighborhood of five thousand dollars.

Valuable Cattle Killed. Ten head of cattle belonging to James Little in the town of Janesville were killed by lightning last night. Six cows and four steers, all registered short horn Durham cattle, were included in the herd, which was pastured in a field. The animals were valued at eight hundred dollars.

Damage at Broadhead. Broadhead, August 11.—Broadhead and vicinity experienced a terrific electrical storm last evening. Lightning played incessantly and many crashes of thunder pealed. The tall building of Chas. Laube on the corner of Exchange and Main streets, was struck and the slate covering torn off from top to base of the cupola. Fortunately no one was injured and the damage was not as extensive as at first thought. Many telephones and electric lights were put out of commission.

STORM LAST NIGHT DID MUCH DAMAGE; ZION HOTEL BURNS

Cars and Buildings Were Burned in This Section and Wires Were Torn Down—Reports From Various Points.

Freeport, Ill., Aug. 11.—One of the most severe electrical storms of years struck this city today, starting at three and continuing until five. The tall building of Chas. Laube on the corner of Exchange and Main streets, was struck and the slate covering torn off from top to base of the cupola. Fortunately no one was injured and the damage was not as extensive as at first thought. Many telephones and electric lights were put out of commission.

Big Hotel Burns. Zion City, Ill., Aug. 11.—The Zion hotel, a 200-room building, was struck by lightning early today, 200 terrified guests in scant attire being forced to the street by subsequent fire which destroyed the north wing. No one was hurt.

Damage at Racine. Racine, Wis., Aug. 11.—This city is today clearing up after the worst electrical and rain storm of the year which caused heavy damage last night and early today. Electric lights, street car and telephone service was entirely demoralized and heavy damage wrought over the city.

At Manitowoc. Manitowoc, Wis., Aug. 11.—Lightning late last night struck the barn of Oliver Mundt, a farmer near here, the structure catching fire and the flames spreading to the house and other buildings. All were destroyed with a loss of several thousand dollars. Members of the family had narrow escapes.

Landmark Gone. Defoli, Aug. 11.—A landmark of fifty years was obliterated last night when lightning set fire to the barn on the farm of Germain Houder, near this city. The timbers of the structure were hewn out of hard wood which was cut when this section was heavily forested. The barn was completely destroyed together with twenty tons of hay.

Four Horses Burn. Defoli, Aug. 11.—Lightning last night destroyed the horse barn of the Barker Lumber company. Four horses were burned.

VITAL STATISTICS INDICATE DECREASE IN THE DEATH RATE

Figures for Second Quarter of 1911 Indicate Rate of 11.7 per Thousand—Causes Attributed.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 11.—During the months of April, May and June, 1911, 6,958 deaths were reported to the state bureau of vital statistics, according to figures in the quarterly bulletin now being published. This is exclusive of 405 still-births and corresponds to an annual death rate of 11.7 per thousand estimated population. The estimated population of Wisconsin, based on the annual yearly increase from the state census of 1905 to the United States census bureau of 1910, is 2,553,815.

Deaths Decrease. The death rate for the second quarter of 1911, when compared with that for April, May and June, 1910, of 11.6 per thousand estimated population, and the rate of 12.3 per thousand for 1909, indicates a relative healthfulness of the state for this period of time during the past three years. During the months of April, May and June, 1910, 6,984 deaths, exclusive of still-births, were reported. This shows a decline of 26 in the number of deaths reported. The decline in the number of deaths is due, in a large measure, to the absence of any serious epidemics of typhoid, diphtheria or scarlet fever, which are not to be prevalent at this season of the year.

Causes of Death. Important causes of death with the number of deaths from each disease are as follows: Pulmonary tuberculosis, 583; other tuberculosis, 89; typhoid fever, 70; diphtheria, 56; scarlet fever, 56; measles, 81; whooping cough, 53; pneumonia, 728; diarrhoea and enteritis under two years, 174; meningitis, 149; influenza, 57; peripneumonic septicaemia, 42; cancer, 358; violence, 418; still-births, 405.

Comparing the number of deaths from certain causes for the second quarter of 1911 with a similar report for 1910, there is found a decrease in the number of deaths reported as follows: Other forms of tuberculosis, 17; typhoid fever, 45; diphtheria, 29; scarlet fever, 50; and cancer, 29. There was a decrease of 73 in the number of deaths under one year of age, and a decrease of 94 in the number of deaths among children from one to four years of age.

Diseases on Increase. There was an increase in the number of deaths from certain other diseases as follows: Pulmonary tuberculosis, 62; measles, 43; whooping cough, 12; pneumonia, 40; diarrhoea and enteritis under two years, 17; meningitis, 23; peripneumonic septicaemia, 5; violence, 59; still-births, 100.

The northern section of the state had a death rate for this period of 10.5 per thousand, while the rate for the central section was 11.7, and for the southern section 12.3.

The following deaths from violence were reported: Suicides, 91; accidental drowning, 90; railroad accidents, 52; accidental burns, 31; falls, 29; gunshot wounds, 16; horse vehicles and horses, 9; accidental poisoning, 8; automobile accidents, 7; street cars, 11; homicides, 7; sunstroke, 6; lightning, 5. 5 deaths from anterior poliomyelitis or infantile paralysis were reported for this period of time.

PERKINS ADVOCATES GENERAL PUBLICITY TO CORRECT EVILS

Financier Favors Complete Publicity of Trusts' Affairs to Remedy Evils—Industrial Investigation Planned.

Washington, Aug. 11.—George W. Perkins, the financier, suggested to the House Steel committee today that the government commission which would insure the focusing of the limelight of publicity on the business affairs of great corporations would do much to eradicate the present trust evils and preserve their virtues.

Following Perkins' suggestion, Rep. Littleton announced that a resolution would soon be introduced to congress providing a thorough investigation of the industrial situation of the country.

Agree on Rate. The full conference committee agreed to a flat rate of twenty-five per cent on raw wool, and also agreed to the House classification of wool.

WOMEN OF COLORADO WANT LARGE SHARE OF STATE OFFICES

Long List of Officers Are Sought by Women Voters in Coming Campaign—Organization Is Under Way.

WHAT COLORADO WOMEN WANT. Lieutenant governor or one congressman. Not less than four members of the lower house. Two state senators. State auditor. State superintendent of schools. That's all.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 11.—And they say if they do not get what they seek in the next general elections they will probably form a new political party. With the male vote split between republicans, democrats, socialists, laborites, and one or two other parties, the women politicians believe that united, they will be the major party and in lieu of begging favors from mere men matters will be reversed.

The representation of women voters in state politics during the present year consists of one state superintendent of schools and four assemblymen. "We have made good voters. We have shown that we can hold office beside the men. Why should we not get what we want?" This is the argument of Mrs. Sarah Platt Becker, a national figure among the suffragettes, and one of the Colorado leaders in the movement for general recognition of women voters. She may be the next democratic candidate for congress or the lieutenant governorship.

The work of organization of the female political party is already under way.

STRIKE SETTLEMENT WILL BE EFFECTED IN LONDON SHORTLY

Prospects Are Bright Today For Ending London Labor Troubles—Dire Results Drive Strikers to Terms.

London, Aug. 11.—The employing federation today accepted an agreement with the striking teamsters. The outlook for a settlement of all the strikes which have paralyzed traffic and freight trade here for the last 48 hours, was bright today. The war office has suspended its order to rush 10,000 troops from Africa, pending settlement negotiations. The strikes are yet, however, affecting every industry. It was impossible to secure bullion from the government mint, which was closed today.

The shadow of famine and commercial ruin is the force bringing an end to the strikes. Critical at Liverpool. Liverpool, Aug. 11.—The strike situation here is more critical today. Strikers controlled the city last night. Two squadrons of Scotch Greys arrived today from New York to assist in maintaining order. Business is dead.

MAN ARRESTED FOR ALLEGED ATTEMPTED ASSAULT ON CHILD

CHARLES JOHNSON, FARM LABORER, IN CITY LOCK-UP CHARGED WITH ATTEMPTED CRIME ON FOUR-YEAR-OLD BOY.

WAS IDENTIFIED BY LAD

Dean Adams, Victim of Alleged Attempt at Assault, Identified Man and Knife With Which Clothes Were Cut.

Charles Johnson, aged 42, a farm laborer, was arrested at the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway station about two o'clock this afternoon and is now lodged in one of the cells at the city lock-up charged with an alleged attempted assault on the person of Dean Adams of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, the four-year-old grandson of Mayhew London of this city.

The alleged attempted assault took place today shortly after one o'clock in one of the lumber sheds of the Field Lumber company on North High street. The boy, after eating his dinner, had gone into the front yard to play and wandered into the shed, which is adjacent to the London home. The man, according to the child's story, came along and seeing the child, entered the shed and took young Adams on his lap and with a knife cut open and tore the child's clothes. He released the boy a few minutes later and the child went to his mother, Mrs. Dean Adams, who is visiting here, and told the story.

James London, a great-uncle of the boy, hearing the story, took the boy, and went with him to the depot, where the lad identified Johnson as the man under arrest and took him to the police station.

The child was later taken to the city lock-up and not only identified Johnson, but a white bone-handled knife which was found on Johnson when the child was searched and with which the child said, his clothes were cut.

Johnson claimed he came here last Friday from Sycamore and had worked for three days and a half for Frank Wright on a farm near the county farm. He said he was going to Madison when the arrest was made. He is slight in stature, weighing about one hundred and thirty pounds, and had a two or three days' growth of beard on his face.

He was dressed in dark gray striped trousers with a blue jumper jacket and soft felt black hat. He was semi-intoxicated when arrested.

That Johnson may have had some connection with the assault and murder of a young boy in Rockford some years ago is the theory held by the police. The circumstances in the two cases are somewhat similar, and it is believed that Johnson may know something of the case. The Rockford lad was cut open by his assailant and assaulted in a lumber yard. Every possible clue to the identity of the man who committed the crime was followed up, but the boy's assailant was never found.

This theory is strengthened by Johnson's aversion to Rockford, his principal reason for this aversion being given as that it was "no good." At first he denied that he had ever been in the Forest City, saying that he had come from Sycamore, Ill., but on closer questioning admitted he had worked for a man named George Kelth, who, he claims, is dead.

Johnson stated that he had worked for Kelth at the time the late Iveryman was drifting horses for the United States for use in the Spanish-American War and had worked for Kelth's son four years ago.

WOUNDS SEVERAL IN ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE

Martin Owen Injures Several Officers in a Desperate Attempt to Escape Jail Sentence.

Christopher, Ill., Aug. 11.—Attempting to escape from the court room, after being remanded to jail for alleged reckless shooting on the street, Martin Shadownes, late last night shot Justice of the peace Mannon in the arm, probably fatally wounded City Marshal Stadler, and wounded William Schultz, a spectator. He then stabbed Deputy Marshal Mackey, and the latter shot and killed Shadownes. Charles Shadownes, a brother of Martin, fell from the second story window of the court room, and was probably fatally hurt. The court room was crowded by the novelty of a night session.

LINK AND PIN. RAILROAD SYSTEMS TO FACE LABOR WAR SAY UNION LEADERS

America With Labor Mightily Upheaval of Work Forces On Railways Within Six Months Is Predicted.

(By United Press.)

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 11.—That within the next six months America will have seen one of the greatest industrial wars in labor history, which will end in the complete remaking of working conditions surrounding the millions of men employed on the vast railway system of the United States, is the prediction of labor union leaders here, who are of national reputation.

That a crisis is rapidly approaching is admitted on nearly every side.

The new combination of industrial forces, gathered under the leadership of the railroad employees department of the American Federation of Labor and known as the "system federations," organized in the past six months, has precipitated what railroad men and employees admit themselves, is a crisis. Each "system federation" will represent a different railway system.

Agreements Expire.

For years, the agreements between the railroads and the various branches of their employees have been expiring on different dates of different years. In this way the railroads were protected from a general strike and when one department of their employees struck, work could be shifted to another branch, which was under contract not to strike until the stated time of the agreement had expired. The strike of one branch usually was settled before that time arrived, so a general strike always was out of the question.

Within the past six months the "system federations" have adopted a new policy. Under the American Federation of Labor, it is proposed to combine every branch of the railroad trade into one union. Already the shopworkers, boiler makers, telegraphers, switchmen, machinists, and sheet metal workers, numbering 700,000, have joined the "system federations", and the firemen, engineers and others are said seriously to be contemplating such a move.

Federation's Object.

The main object of this "system federations" is to combine all employees so that every contract will expire the same day. In this way, if demands are not met, a strike involving every man in every railway system in America may be called. It was by such a move as this that the world famous "general strikes" were called famous, absolutely paralyzing traffic and giving the workers the things they demand.

Realizing the gravity of such a situation, the railroad magnates have announced that they will not treat with the "system federation". They declare they are willing to continue to treat with committees representing each separate trade, as they now do, but they will not accede to a demand that all contracts expire on the same day, so that a general strike may be called on any system which refuses to meet the men's demands.

Situation Not Acute.

The situation, it is conceded, has not yet reached an acute stage. The system federation is in its infancy and has not yet reached the support of the largest railway unions, such as engineers, firemen and conductors, although nearly a million men are already enrolled. That the other unions, however, will join in the movement is the firm belief of the railway men, who predict that inside of the next six months all the railway unions will have merged under the American Federation of Labor and will be in a position to make simultaneous demands.

The Rock Island railroad employees already have a system federation, a committee of which has been in Chicago for two weeks, meeting secretly with the officials of the road, who thus far have refused to treat with the committee officially.

The system federation of the Southern Pacific is understood to have made demands and voted to strike if the demands are refused. The Union Pacific system federation is understood to be taking a secret strike vote. The Illinois Central system federation is said to be planning a secret move.

More than $500,000,000 a year in additional wages, it is said, will be demanded by the various system federations.

ENGINE JUMPS TRACK WHILE SWITCHING

Curled itself in the Earth At Side of Track Near Janesville Clothing Co's. Plant This Morning.

While making a flying start, the engine on the N. River street switch, near the Janesville Clothing Co's factory about 9:30 this morning switched engine 167 jumped the track and dug its way into the soft earth at the side of the track. The locomotive left the track and bumped along over the ties for a distance of ten or fifteen yards and then veered away from the track so that the drivers on the left side buried themselves in the ground. As the wheels went down the fire box caught on the earth and due to this the engine was prevented from tipping completely over.

Engineer Tallmadge and Fireman Hacksaw were running the engine at the time and both were severely shaken by the short rough ride over the ties. Fortunately neither received any injuries.

Engine 29 was put on the switching run until 107 can be placed in condition for that work. The damage to the engine is slight but will necessitate its being sent to the shop for a short time.

Hert Donnett stationary engineer is now receiving as relief boilermaker between six and seven in the morning before the regular force reports for duty for the day. His first job was hauled yesterday morning when he attended to engine 1762 of train 52, which he did in record time.

DERAILED FREIGHT CAUSE MANY CHANGES

Train Off Track Near Caledonia Made Changes Necessary in Regular Passenger Runs Today.

On account of the derailment of a freight train between Caledonia and Harvard this morning the regular passenger runs during the middle of the day were somewhat disorganized. Train 518, which leaves here for Chicago and then directly to Chicago, the train which usually makes the run from Spring Valley to Caledonia making connection there with the 11:35 passenger from here was run through to this city and then returned via Harvard as 518.

Word of the derailment was not received at the local office until a short time before the 10:35 passenger train was scheduled to leave and several persons who wished to make inter-city trips along its regular run found it necessary to wait over for the next train or have their tickets exchanged for points on the direct line that were nearest to their destinations.

Joe Zastoupil, night stationery engineer, turned to work last night, after a short illness.

Engineer Starril relieved Hendrickson yesterday afternoon on 581.

Joseph McMann was enlisted today as machinist.

William Sullivan, hose painter was laying off today.

Firemen Uram is working on the shop run today.

Engineer Lewis and Fireman Stober went out on 580 this morning.

Engineer Dudley is laying off and Townsend is taking his place on 582.

CHICAGO, MILWAUKEE & ST. PAUL. TURNABLE MOTOR STRUCK DURING ELECTRIC STORM

During the storm early last night lightning burned out the fuse wire in the electric motor on the turntable and put the table out of commission until early this morning. No other damage was done to the machinery and the inconvenience caused was the only thing worth noting.

The local shop was visited by several of the chief officials yesterday. Among them were W. Alexander, master mechanic, Thomas Lewis, general superintendent of boilermakers and John H. Horn, superintendent of boiler washing.

The railway tracks near Nott Bros. factory were badly damaged at about one o'clock this afternoon when a car jumped the track while being switched at that point. The car was heavily loaded with coal and tore up the rails and ties for several yards.

STATEMENT ISSUED REGARDING BELOIT

Industries of the Line City Are All Figured Out by Census Bureau.

(Special to this Gazette.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—A preliminary statement of the general results of the Thirteenth United States Census of Manufacturers of the city of Beloit, Wis., was issued today by Census Director Durand. It contains a summary comparing the figures for 1901 and 1909, by city totals, prepared under the direction of William M. Stewart, chief statistician for manufacturers, Bureau of the Census. The figures are subject to such revision as may be necessary after a further examination of the original reports.

The summary shows percentages of increase as follows: 107 per cent in the capital invested; 102 per cent in the number of salaried officials and clerks; 33 per cent in the cost of materials used; 32 per cent in salaries and wages; 21 per cent in the value of products; 20 per cent in the value added by manufacture; 21 per cent in the average number of wage earners employed; and 16 per cent in the number of establishments. There was a decrease of 3 per cent in the miscellaneous expenses.

There were 51 establishments in 1909, as compared with 41 in 1901, an increase of 7, or 16 per cent.

The value of products in 1909 was $5,885,000 and $4,485,000 in 1901, an increase of $1,400,000, or 31 per cent. The average per establishment was approximately $115,000 in 1909 and about $102,000 in 1901.

The value of products represents their selling value or price at the plants as actually turned out by the factories during the census year and does not necessarily have any relation to the amount of sales for that year. The values under this head also include the amount received for work done on materials furnished by others.

Further details can be drawn from the tabular summary which follows:

	Census—		Per cent of increase 1901-1909.
	1909	1901
Number of establishments	51	44	16
Capital	$7,747,000	$7,339,000	107
Cost of materials used	$2,432,000	$1,835,000	33
Salaries and wages	$2,157,000	$1,635,000	32

DECIDED MIX-UP IN BIG TOBACCO DEAL

Joe Grundy Said to Be Loser in Deal Made by His Agent in Stoughton.

There is a decided mix-up in a tobacco deal in which two Janesville tobacco dealers are interested, as well as other hundreds of tobacco throughout this section of the state. According to the report it is alleged that Joseph Grundy of this city is the loser to the amount of $10,000. It appears that Mr. Grundy's agent at Stoughton, named Simonsen, who purchased considerable tobacco, received a commission for the work, sold a quantity of the packing, something over two hundred cases, to G. H. Rummell of this city. Mr. Rummell paid the Stoughton agent, Simonsen, "Thomas Carlo of Edgerton is also alleged to have purchased from Simonsen, some of the lower grades of the packing. Other sales to various tobacco buyers are also alleged, all of which Mr. Grundy claims was illegal, and his Stoughton representative had no authority to make a sale or collect any money. According to the report it is alleged that Simonsen's relatives tried to adjust the matter with Mr. Grundy unsuccessfully. George G. Sutherland and Charles Plecken have been retained by Mr. Grundy to look after his interests, but thus far it can not be learned that any court action has been commenced.

GREAT FLYING MEET OPENS IN CITY OF CHICAGO TOMORROW

World Renowned Birdmen to Participate in Aviation Contest to be Held in Grant Park.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 11.—More than two-score of the most daring birdmen of two continents are assembled in Chicago and everything is in readiness for the greatest aviation meet in the history of aerial navigation which will begin here tomorrow at Grant Park. The big hotels in the vicinity of the aviation field on the lake front are rapidly filling up with visitors and it is expected that by tomorrow the transient population of Chicago will show an increase of fully fifty thousand, attracted to this city by the meet.

Aviators of Renown.
The organizers of the meet, among whom are some of the wealthiest and most progressive merchants of this city, have spared neither money nor trouble to insure the success of the event and have made it sufficiently attractive from a financial point of view to attract aviators of renown from seven great nations. France will be represented by Roland Garros, Rene Monnier and Rene Barriere, noted throughout Europe for their daring feats; the English contestants will include "Tom" Sopwith, known as "The Majesty's Own Aviator." Other noted foreign aviators who will fly during the five days of the meet are J. A. J. McCurdy, the Canadian aviation veteran; Abraham Bogardus, a Russian, who has been flying aerial club; John J. Finkle of Ireland; Edmund Auden, the famous Swiss aviator, and a number of others.

Americans to Compete.
The list of American aviators who will take part in the contests includes Capt. Thomas Baldwin, dean of American aeronauts; Charles K. Hamilton, who made the first flight from New York to Philadelphia; Eugene Ely, who flew from the land to the deck of a battleship and back again; Hugh A. Robinson, who was the first man to loop the loop on a motorcycle; Harry S. Atwood, who recently won renown by his flight from Boston to New York to Washington and his daring "stunts" in the office mentioned; Lincoln Beachey, who made the first flight over Niagara Falls; F. E. Post, the Milwaukee aviator, who formerly held the amateur altitude record; St. Croix Johnson, the Chicago aviator with a long record of daring and successful flights; Charles F. Wilbur, James V. Martin, Charles P. Walsh, Arthur Stone, "Jimmy" Ward, Leslie Lewis, Lieut. Andre Roux, and Howard Lo Van, the youngest aviator in the United States, who is only seventeen years of age.

Government Interested.
The United States government has taken official cognizance of this meet and the War Department has detailed Major Samuel Reber of the signal corps and a number of officers of the army to attend the meet and make observations. The commanders of the two gunboats in the Chicago harbor, the Nashville and the Dubuque, have received orders to hold themselves in readiness for any emergency during the meet, eventually act as escorts for daring aviators, attempting a flight across Lake Michigan.

The aviation field in Grant Park is one of the best equipped ever seen at any meet of this kind. The grandstand seats 70,000 persons and judging from the advance sale of seats there will be few vacant seats during the week. Elaborate preparations have been made to provide medical assistance in case of accident or sickness and a corps of physicians and surgeons, with a large number of assistants and nurses will be on duty in and around the aviation field during the entire duration of the meet.

Program is Planned.

The events will begin each day at 2:30 in the afternoon and will continue until seven o'clock. The program has been so arranged that there will be no waste between events and there will be something to be seen all the time. The program for the week includes forty-eight separate events, including four cross-country and cross-water flights, in which $12,000 is offered in prizes. There will be twelve speed events with a total of $14,000 in prizes, with separate prizes for non-planes and airplanes in all but two of the events. In the passenger-carrying contests prizes amounting to $15,000 will be competed for, not counting a number of special prizes for various special feats. There will be five altitude prizes aggregating $10,000 and big special prizes in the "quick-climbing" contest, accuracy, starting and landing contests, etc. A minimum of $2 a minute will be allowed each aviator for the time he is in the air during flying hours, whether he wins a prize or not and $10,000 will be distributed among the aviators who remained in the air the longest time during the official hours of the meet. In addition to the prizes provided by the organizers of the meet many cups and prizes for special features have been offered by leading hotels and business houses. The profits of the meet are to go to charity.

McFarland-Wolgast.

The greatest crowd that has ever attended a boxing contest in the middle west will no doubt be assembled at the Coliseum in Milwaukee, September 15th, when Puckey McFarland and Ad Wolgast meet to settle their little dispute as to who is the best lightweight in a ten-round, no decision affair. The demand for seats is so great that the managers of the National A. C., Frank Milkern and Harlan Zee, expect to have the house sold out before the night of the contest. Every seat in the big Coliseum is reserved, even to the lowest priced seats, so that every one buying a ticket will be guaranteed a seat. Both boys are training strenuously for the contest, for it means much to each one, and they cannot afford to be in anything but the very best of condition. Delegations are coming from all parts of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Illinois and Iowa, and a great many orders for tickets have come from as far west as Denver, and as far east as Boston.

For All Around Title.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 11.—Scores of athletes, representing the cream of America's collegiate and association performers, have been streaming into this city all day for the all-around championships of the National Amateur Athletic Union, which are to be held at Marshall field tomorrow, under the auspices of the Chicago Athletic Association. They come from as far west as California, from as far south as New Orleans and from many of the larger cities of the east. In the number of competing athletes and their high quality the meet promises to be up to the high standard established in previous years. With Martin Sheridan, Gibbs and Thompson, who won last year, not among the entries this year, the competition is expected to be the closest and best in the history of all-around.

Ready To Race At Hamilton.

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 11.—That the Hamilton Jockey Club's summer meeting, which commences tomorrow, will furnish the best racing of the year in Canada sees now a foregone conclusion. In addition to all the best stables that raced here during the spring meeting, there are now quartered at the track many fast horses that have been campaigning in the United States during the spring and early summer. The meeting will continue for seven days.

Keeping Tab On the Minors.

Raymond Boyd, Ottumwa's star pitcher, has been sold to the Cincinnati club.

Youngstown has a great hitter in Joe Phillips. He is leading the O. and P. league in batting.

Empire Ralph Pray, who tried out in the National league this season has returned to the Northwestern league.

Pitcher Cecil Ferguson, who was sold to Memphis some time ago is still in Boston, working out in the Red Sox's yard.

Rumor has it that Des Moines will be dropped from the Western league and be given a berth in the Three-I league.

Portland has a great team this season and the Oregon city has a fine chance to win the Pacific coast pennant.

Manager Steve Flanagan, of the Brockton team, says that in Hendrickson he has the star outfielder in the New England league.

President Carson says that the Central league will play out its schedule and that no further change in the circuit are contemplated.

The Eau Claire and La Crosse teams of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league recently played nineteen innings. LaCrosse copping the game 1 to 0.

The Boston and the St. Louis American leagues and the Cincinnati Reds are all bidding for pitcher Will Kluwe of the Danville Three-I league team.

The Augusta team has been taken over by the directors of the South Atlantic league and will be known as the S. A. L. team the balance of the season.

From a Southern league scriber: Mother Ryan, you remember the dear old girl, dropped in yesterday. Too high-priced for the Cotton states, that's how she explains the harsh criticism.

the of a can at her heels.
San Bernardino, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Oxnard, Venice, Oxnard, and San Diego, California, have organized a winter league and will open the season after the closing of the major leagues. Quite a number of big leaguers have agreed to join the organization.

HARD RAIN IMPROVES BOTH THE TRACKS AT THE DRIVING PARK

Puts Them in Fine Condition for the Motorcycle Races the Last of the Month.

Besides proving a Godsend to the farmers of the county in the benefit to the late crops, the rain-storm which struck this vicinity last night was welcomed by the owners of the fair grounds, the Janesville Park association. The two racing tracks at the grounds, a half mile and mile track, were completed about a week ago by Contractor Joseph Connell and the rain was needed to pack down the dirt used on the track. This was done most satisfactorily without washing out any portion of the track, according to Chairman Harry McDaniel of the motor racing committee, who inspected the tracks this morning. "Just what we needed," said Mr. McDaniel today. "The track is in the shape, in fact, it could not be better for the motorcycle races on August 26. A number were of the opinion that the tracks would not be fit for use but the rain has done the work and they could not be better."

Strews Sand on Frozen Streets.

McGEE AFFAIR MAY LEAD TO CHANGE IN PRESIDENCY.

Chicago, Ill.—There is a well grounded rumor which, however, lacks official confirmation to the effect that should the minutes forming the Board of Directors of the National League Reinstatement Society in the face of President Lynch's decision, it will be a direct slap in the face and will eventually lead to his resignation.

Of course the decision has not yet been given and will not be for several days and it may vindicate Lynch, but the impression is that McGee will be reinstated.

Should Lynch resign or fail of reelection, there is one man who looms upon the horizon above others as a possible candidate for the Presidency, and that man is Joseph D. O'Brien of Milwaukee, ex-president of the American Association.

Dan McKilrick, manager of Willie Lewis, announces that Lewis is the welterweight champion. Too bad about Mac, but he will be himself again in a day or two.

NEW ALIGNMENT.

Already there is considerable talk as to the possible alignment of parties at the next presidential campaign. Press bureaus for the radical and conservative republican candidates have begun their labors and the ultra radical faction of the republican party is most anxious to put its claims before the people in the best possible manner.

That there will be a split in the ranks of the republican party is now certain. Whether a similar one will come to democracy remains a debatable question. In 1896 the Free Silver advocates left the republican convention and united with the Bryan faction of the democratic while many gold democrats joined with the republican conservatives.

In Wisconsin the division line between democracy and republicanism is less distinct than perhaps in any other state in the union. The campaigns of the past few years have demonstrated party lines. The old time democratic majorities are wiped out at the state and national elections and in some cases, as in Rock county last fall, not enough votes were cast to put a full democratic ticket in nomination.

The coming presidential campaign is beginning early. While the Gazette believes that President Taft has made a most excellent President, stands for the best interests of the party which has honored him and should be re-nominated and re-elected, still in view of the fact that Wisconsin will have a presidential candidate in the field it is perhaps best to send an undivided delegation to the national convention instructed for the state's candidate.

Beyond a question of a doubt, President Taft will be re-nominated and re-elected without the aid of the Wisconsin conservatives. Should a Taft ticket be placed in nomination in the state it would receive many votes. There are men who have been radical in their tendencies for years that are becoming the conservatives of conservatives. The wave, or epidemic, of reform appears to have played out its strength in the results of the last legislature.

What is true of Wisconsin is true of other sections of the country. An eastern exchange, in viewing the situation in the South, discusses it in the following manner:

"Students of evolution of political parties in the United States have had a perplexing yet fascinating task during the past two decades. A division between conservatives and radicals that first split the democratic party is now cleaving the republicans, and much national and state legislation is taking on an undreamed-of quality of revolt because of the working alliance that has come between radicals of both parties to whom old party shibboleths are no longer. Nothing like the present state of flux has been known since the issues of the civil war period gave to the republican party a domination that lasted long after the issues were irrevocably settled. Not since the earliest days of the republic have national executive and legislative been so potentially opportunistic and nationalist in their aims and so indifferent to the instruments by which definite national ends are accomplished. Never, within the memory of the oldest politicians, have party ties been so lax and political leadership so exclusively personal in its methods and aims.

"Out of the tangle and chaos it may be that a cleavage issue may emerge for the presidential campaign of 1912. The democratic party, as the first to feel the disintegrating effects of the new radicalism, naturally is the first to adjust itself to them, and as at present led in congress it seems to be uniting on a tariff policy fairly in harmony with party tradition, namely, a tariff for revenue only. If this should prove to be essentially the course, and if led by a presidential candidate who is southern born, the effect of such a platform and such a candidacy upon the party loyalty of southern manufacturers who stand for a tariff for protection's sake is not easy to predict. They would strain traditional party and sectional loyalties.

"Even in the ante-bellum days sentiment in the South favoring support of manufacturing interests was stronger than is commonly supposed. With the marvelous development in manufacturing of the 'new South' and the rise of a manufacturing class or 'interest' with its social and financial ramifications, opinion favorable to a protective tariff has increased much during the past two decades. Whether or not this alone the 'southern' protectionists would be willing to identify themselves with the republican party remains to be disclosed in the next presidential campaign."

The reorganized Wisconsin State Journal comes out with the announcement that it will represent the voice of the people. It is amusing to see an eastern reformer take the bit in his teeth and try to build a straw bogey man out of nothing.

One of the features that can not fail to be noted in Edgerton by the casual visitor is that everyone is a booster. Everyone believes that Edgerton is the best little city in Wisconsin and consequently it is.

Already it is reported that candidates for state and legislative offices are seeking the approval of their would-be constituents. The blue book is a campaign document just the same as the government seeds are for the congressman.

The suffragette flying squadron invaded Janesville and made a decided impression upon susceptible voters. It was amusing to note, however, that a "more man" was at the wheel of the automobile that conveyed them on their pilgrimage.

There are many new laws on the statute books passed by the last legislature that some of the possible candidates for re-nomination will find it hard to explain their votes for when the time comes.

Janesville has a hand now that it need not be ashamed of. If you have not contributed for the concerns that are being held do so at once so as to encourage the members of that organization.

This is the time for plagues. The local orders are having them and the grocers and others will also enjoy outlaws despite their everyday rivalry.

It appears to be the slogan of the present administration to clean up the streets and alleys and in this every good citizen should aid.

The Industrial and Commercial club is still looking for members to help boost Janesville. Remember that and join the boosters.

Both Evansville and Deloit will have county fairs this year. Next year Janesville may be on the list.

The rain has come and its benefits will be sweeping and will be felt by farmers the county through.

PRESS COMMENT.

Strike Settlement.
Fond du Lac Reporter: "The action of Judge de Graff in issuing an injunction putting an end to the street car strike in Des Moines, Ia., furnishes a new method of settlement for labor problems. The test of the validity of the ruling of the judge will be watched with interest by both employers and employees throughout the country. In the event he is sustained in his ruling, court settlement of strikes will probably be the rule in the future."

Buy a Ticket.
Oshkosh Northwestern: "On the seventeenth of this month a new law will go into effect which will permit the collection of ten cents extra from railroad passengers who fail to secure their tickets in advance. And while there may be some kicking over this provision, after all it is only fair to the railroad companies in their efforts to keep conductors from 'knocking down.'"

Another Commission.
Edgerton Tobacco Reporter: "When our laws are made so complex and mystifying that it requires experts to go about the state explaining their provisions, the limit to the prerogative of law making has about been reached. The thing most needed now is a commission whose duty is to unravel the queries and kinds of the too new laws that even the members of the legislature themselves did not understand the provisions in the making."

UNCLE WALT THE POET PHILOSOPHER

(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams.)
By WALT MASON.

I have heard Cap Jimson say to his son: "Come hither, Jay, I'd be greatly pleased if you sundry little chores would do. You might paint the chicken pump, take those tin cans to the dump, cut in stove lengths yonder log, put a flynet on the dog. I am pleased to see you, lad, always prompt to help your dad, and a home I'll hand you down when the circus comes to town." Then the little lad does his stunt with a ray and smiling front. I have heard Cap Jimson cry to his son: "Get busy, Guy! Paint the kitchen roof with tar, worthless lumber that you are! You don't earn your room and keep, all you do is eat and sleep! When I was your age, you eat, not a minute did I loaf! Stir your stumps, now, pretty quick, or I'll hand you with this stick!" To his task goes youthful Guy, with rebellion in his eye. Who will reach success some day, gloomy Guy or joyous Jay? If they win or lose the game, whose the credit, whose the blame?

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYL.

THE HOT WEATHER FACE.
Yes, the weather is warm. You can read that much, writ large, in the faces about you.

Note the faces. Heads of perspiration tell of sticky clothes and burning feet. The air is murky; scowls wrinkle brows; mouths droop; eyes are suddenly glazed; gestures are of dissent and protest; thunder clouds sit on foreheads; humanity languishes.

Look at the faces. You try to look pleasant, but so much are we all hot, with the fussy lunch about you, your own temperature goes up a notch or two.

Hint wait. There's a face different. It is the face of a rare woman. Undoubtedly her face is red, like the rest of them, but her brow is placid, and her eyes have a laugh in them, and she smiles a smile that will not come off. What a relief to look on! Your temperature drops a little.

Handsome? Yes, she is handsome by comparison with the ugliness about her. Other women are better dressed, but— Their beauty is spoiled by the grinch they carry. The hotter they get the gronchier they get, and the gronchier they become the hotter they get.

There's another—a man's face. Good humor radiates from every vantage point of his ruddy countenance. Jollity is bodied forth from scapulae to double chin. He perspires, but he smiles. He mops his face, but his twinkling eyes plainly say, "It's always warm in summer." He really appears cooler. He is cooler.

How is that? Why, there's physical and mental heat. For instance, you are warm physically. Your mind says, "I'm hot." As a result you pile mental heat on top of the physical. You are hot both in body and in mind.

Which is a bad combination, because mental heat is more dangerous than physical. The better way to save yourself from the heat is to try to forget it. Smile and cool off.

Whatever you do, if you must put on a hot weather face, keep it to your self.

Do not put it in circulation.

Lightning Again Plays Havoc

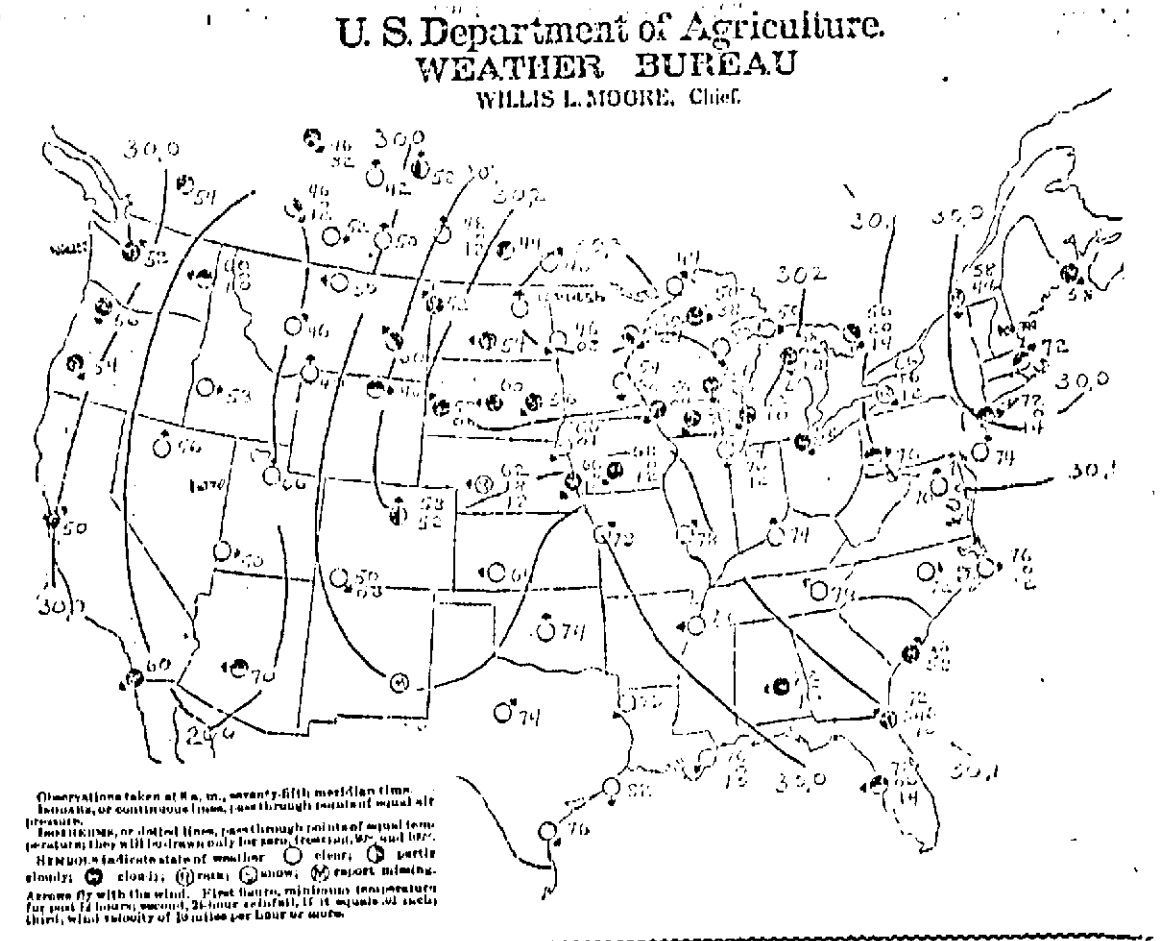

Thousands of Dollars Lost. What Protection Have You?

Last night lightning burned and destroyed $5,000 worth of buildings, horses and stock belonging to P. H. Murphy at Johnston; all the farm buildings belonging to Mr. Chamberlain at Milton Junction; 10 head of cattle belonging to Jas. Little, west of Janesville.

Isn't it worth the cost of a perfect lightning rod system to absolutely guard against a similar LOSS to YOUR property? Dodd & Struthers Cables are guaranteed and no building ever has been destroyed which has carried these lightning protectors.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.
The area of high atmospheric pressure that has provided over the Canadian Northwest for several days has moved southeastward, carrying somewhat lower temperatures over the Lake Region and the northern Plains. The small atmospheric disturbance that was central over the Missouri valley yesterday has disappeared, at least in Nebraska. There have also though the high temperatures that have been ruling in the south Atlantic and compared it still continued this morning. Aside from this the high in Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Texas. Showers and thunderstorms occurred yesterday and last night on the Pacific coast. In this vicinity, throughout the Lake Region, it is clearing may be expected this afternoon, and on the Plains of South Dakota and cool tonight and Saturday.

THE RECONSTRUCTION DAYS IN MEXICO.
President Madero exhorting the people of Mexico to drop fighting. The President has been conducting a strenuous campaign from the rear platform of a railway train and at every halting place and city large crowds are gathered to see him. Here with all the energy of a fighting man and with the support which these Mexicans know that he has at large, he urges the citizens to a peaceful life, telling them to turn away from fighting and plough their fields. It is one of the most unique campaigns ever inaugurated and has already been fruitful in creating sentiment for the Madero government.

Where One Cannot Drown.
In the Great Salt Lake people are not drowned through sinking, but strangled while still afloat. The bitter water may enter the air passages with fatal effect, but the body floats until it reaches the shore and is picked up. —Harper's Weekly.

TO "RE-CREATE" TOBACCO TRUST
Morgan J. O'Brien, counsel for the Guaranty Trust Company and active in the re-organization of the Tobacco Trust.

New York City.—Within another three months the tobacco trust in accordance to decree handed down by the U. S. Supreme Court, must be re-organized on plans which will conform with the law. The men back of this re-organization are working night and day in an effort to round out their plans within this time. The Guaranty Trust Company with President A. J. Hemphill, chairman of the Protective Committee for a certain class of the tobacco trust investors and Morgan J. O'Brien, former judge, now counsel for the Guaranty Trust Co., have upon their shoulders much of the responsibility of re-organization.

Question of Disposition.
Disappointed Patron—Gentle disposition! Why, he wants to bite the head off every dog he meets. I've been swindled! Dog Merchant—"You didn't ought to keep dogs at all, mister. The animals you ought to keep wiv your temperament is silk-worms."—Punch.

A Greek Joke.
A citizen of Cumae, on a donkey, passed by an orchard, and seeing a branch of a fig tree loaded with delicious fruit he laid hold of it, but the donkey went on, leaving him suspended. Just then the gardener came up and asked him what he did there. The man replied, "I fell off the donkey."—Clouston's "A Book of Noddies."

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Lively Mix-up. Louis Moulton and Fred Hessemer, Sr., and Fred Hessemer, Jr., had a lively mix-up on the Corn Exchange this morning which led to the trio being taken to the police station by officer Fanning. The trouble is alleged to have started over a remark the younger Hessemer passed relatives to a rig Moulton was driving. The three men were released after being lectured by the chief.

One of the chief objects of the association is to be the betterment of the sanitary conditions existing in the bakeries throughout the state and the promotion of clean shops. At their meeting last Tuesday the bakers in session there elected officers for the following year and chose A. J. Wilbur of this city as president. Mr. Wilbur, who is secretary of the Colvin Baking company, is thoroughly versed in the needs of the baking business and is very capable of carrying on the work of the association. The bakers chose P. FOODSTUFFS ARE CUT OF FARMERS' FREE LIST BILL

Compromise on These and Wool Schedule Agreed to by LaFollette and Underwood.

Washington, Aug. 11.—Senator LaFollette and Chairman Underwood of the house ways and means committee, who were named as a subcommittee on the farmers' free list bill, have reached an agreement on that measure and will submit their basis of compromise to the senate and house conference at a full meeting. The compromise commits the house to a recession from its action putting lemon on the free list, while the senate is expected to agree on its part to some changes in the Kern amendment under which meats and foodstuffs generally are admitted free from countries which accord similar freedom to American products of like character.

It is also understood that a compromise on the wool schedule is also in prospect and this also may be submitted to the conference.

It is not expected that there will be any great difficulty in securing the approval of the house and senate to the compromise on the free list bill. There will probably be some debate on the compromise in both houses, but adjustment soon is beginning to crystallize and the tendency now is to sink minor differences and bring the session to an end.

On the wool bill the basis of compromise is now said to be on a duty of 28 per cent. on raw wool, with corresponding duties on all manufactured products. The Underwood bill, which passed the house, provides for a 20 per cent. duty on raw wool. The LaFollette duty is 35 per cent. It is over this difference that the two tariff revisionists have been deadlocked.

Meanwhile the president has departed for a weekend at Beverly. With the statehood bill accepted by the house, that will be the first measure to reach him and therefore the first on which a veto will be made of the ability of the opposition to muster the necessary two-thirds to override a veto. The veto of the statehood bill is said to be certain.

Additional assurances came to the White House that the veto will not be overridden. Republicans who voted for statehood are taking the position that it will be neither wise nor expedient to override the president.

FRICK TO RESIGN FROM U. P.

Asserts He Will Withdraw from Directorates of Other Firms.

New York, Aug. 11.—Henry C. Frick announced his resignation from the board of directors of the Union Pacific railroad. Mr. Frick's action was said to be due primarily to his decision to withdraw from all directorates except those of a few companies in which he is most heavily interested.

The board accepted his resignation with expressions of regret. In financial circles it was said that Mr. Frick has for some time refused to take an active part in the inner chamber of Union Pacific affairs because of his heavy interest in Atchafalaya, feeling that it was not in keeping with the spirit of the times for a director in one railroad to have an influential voice in the affairs of an active competitor.

Get rid of your surplus furniture—Use a Want Ad.

Sort of Job He Wanted. "There's what I'm looking for," said the lazy man going through the want advertisements for an easy job, as his eye lighted on a call for canvassers to sell something that "would sell itself." "That's the sort of a job I want," he said to himself. "Something that I can earn money at without work." And he thought that really some day he must go down and look 'em up.

Killed on Rocking Horse.

To find their little son hanging dead entangled in the reins of his rocking-horse, was the sad experience of Sunderland, Scotland, parents, a few days ago. The little fellow, Raymond Watson, used to cleverly ride the horse while it was swinging briskly, and it is thought he had been playing circus tricks, had lost his balance, and having been unable to extricate himself in the absence of his parents, had been choked to death.

Want Ads bring results.

The Skin and Not the Blood.

Until recently it has been a generally accepted proposition that eczema was a disease of the blood, and that in order to cure it, the blood must be purified and enriched by internal remedies. Careful experiments and scientific investigations have taught us that eczema is purely skin disease, and curable through the skin alone. A great majority of persons afflicted with eczema have no other ailment, which is accepted as positive proof that it is purely a skin disease. Having established this fact, the chemists of the American Drug and Press Association not about to compound a prescription that would successfully cope with this disease, and after much investigating brought out Mordol Eczema Remedy, the effect of which is marvelous. If you are afflicted with this loathsome disease, do not delay trying Mordol Eczema Remedy. You will be surprised at its prompt action, its soothing effect and its permanent results. Reliable Drug Co. are commissioned by the association to sell it in Janesville.

UNCLE SAM'S AIRSHIP PILOTS.

Comparatively little is heard of the work being done by the United States Signal Corps in the way of developing aviation for war purposes. It is of course known that a great effort is being made in this direction but few realize that at the Government's aeronautical station at College Park, Maryland, a regular school is being maintained at which the pupils are taught the secrets of aviation, making almost daily flights over the surrounding country and frequently establishing new records. Upper left, view of the Government's aeronautical station where Lieutenants Arnold and Kirtland are instructors. As soon as their present pupils qualify and become proficient in the art of flying, they will begin the instruction of a new class. Their present pupils include Lieutenant Roy C. Kirtland and Captain

Charles DeForest Chandler. At the upper right is Captain Chandler, who is expected to qualify as an aviator in a short time now. Lower right, Lieutenant Roy C. Kirtland and instructor, Lieutenant Thomas Milling, just as they were about to start on a flight. Lower left, Lieutenant Arnold, the army aviator and instructor, who holds the army altitude record of 4167 feet made recently.

MOST TRYING JOURNEY EVER MADE BY A PRESIDENT.

President Taft and party on their way to Manassas by automobile when President Taft recently delivered his speech at the 50th anniversary of the battle of Bull Run. During this trip the touring party took on the aspect of a pathfinder and were frequently forced to ford rivers and travel on roads flooded to near the tops of the wheels. The upper picture shows Major Butt under the arrow leading the way up such a road. This picture was taken by Lucien Wheeler of the secret service from the automobile. Major Butt had to wade in water to his knees frequently throughout the trip.

It is reported that when the roads permitted Major Butt hung out his socks on the mudguards of the President's automobile to dry. In the picture below, also taken by Mr. Wheeler, Major Butt is seen at the extreme right in the water, directing the course of the President's automobile. In the machine are:

No. 1, President Taft; No. 2, Senator Martin of Virginia; No. 3, Rep. Carlin of Virginia, and a secret service man.

When they arrived at Manassas the President decided to abandon the automobile and come back by train.

The next thing to having a good character is to have a good reputation; the former is what you really are, the latter what people think you are. We have the reputation of being all right on the Dry Goods question. If we don't deserve it, blame the people; they gave it to us. Anyhow, it would be a revelation to some who know us not, to see our goods and hear our prices.

Exceptional Conditions Are Shown Despite Moisture and Drought in Badgerdom.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Aug. 11.—"The crop reports for August 1 show exceptional conditions in that one section of the state reports excessive moisture and others report extreme drought," says Secretary H. W. Rowlands in his monthly statement.

"The northern part of the state has had so much rainfall that some crops have suffered considerably. The northern, western and central parts have had sufficient rainfall and all crops are and have been good with the exception possibly of clover."

"The southeastern and central parts have and are suffering with severe drought. Grains were hurried to an immature ripening. Early corn headed before attaining its usual height and late corn must receive rain soon."

"The condition of pastures is in proportion to the rainfall received in the respective localities."

"Tobacco has enjoyed an exceptional season, but drought is injuring some of it."

"Apples are generally reported good."

Following are percentages on conditions of crops:

Corn 91, potatoes 50, peas 78, beans 85, apples 75, cabbage 84, tobacco 75, sugar beets 82, pastures 63.

The Evening Chit-Chat

by RUTH CAMERON.

LET US not care too much for what happens. Let us not leave our peace of mind at the mercy of events.—Charles G. Ames.

How many slaves would be set free if all men could adopt that suggestion? Slaves to unhappiness, I mean.

The only man who can be sure of happiness is he who has something of that spirit.

The wealthiest, the most fortunate of mankind without it, is in constant danger of black despair.

The poorest, the least apparently blessed of men, can always be cheerful if he has learned that lesson.

A little friend of mine came up on my veranda the other morning to tell me what a beautiful time she was going to have that afternoon. Some friends of hers had invited her to ride horseback with them. She is passionately fond of riding, but seldom has an opportunity to indulge her fondness.

That afternoon I was surprised to see her sitting forth on foot and called out to ask what the matter was.

She came up on my veranda all smiles and explained that one of the horses had gone lame and the ride had to be given up.

"Oh, yes," said she, "we are going to take a long walk and come back on the trolley by moonlight and it is such a beautiful day I know I shall have a fine time."

"But that isn't riding and you love to ride so," "What I always say to myself when things happen like this. I say, 'If I can't have what I want, I'll want what I can have, and I try to do it, too, and you don't know how it helps.'"

Of course, I don't know what that girl's life will be; whether it is destined to be full of heart's desires fulfilled or of longings thwarted, but I do know one thing, and that is that she will always be a blessing to herself and those about her because she will always be happy.

Not to "care too much for what happens"; not to "leave our peace of mind at the mercy of events."

To learn to say, "If I cannot have what I want I'll want what I can have." If we cannot realize our ideal to try "to idealize our real."

Surely all these are signposts on the footpath to happiness and serenity. No, none of them are the easiest things in the world to accomplish. In fact, they are some of the hardest.

But tell me this. Did ever the "easiest way" lead to the Journey's End of Peace and Happiness?

For the stretch of warm, bright days which come in September, October and November this attractive between-season model was planned. The material is black permo fabric, a supple mixture of mohair and wool threads, which form a self-toned pattern over the lustrous surface of the material. The skirt is lashed almost to the knee over an under box pleat and the simulated tunic is trimmed with fringe, which is to be the trimming par excellence, says Paris. DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—First thing you know Father is liable to doubt those stories.

The Taming of Red Butte Western

"His eyes were coming back to her. 'If I thought you meant that,' he repeated, 'if I believed that you could despise me so utterly as to think for a moment that I would deliberately turn my back upon my responsibilities here, go away and hunt safety for myself, leaving the men who have stood by me to whatever.'"

"You are making it a matter of duty," she interrupted quite gravely. "I suppose that is right and proper. But isn't your first duty to yourself and to those who?" She paused and then went on in the same steady tone: "I have been hearing some things today—some of the things you said I would hear. You are well hated in the Red desert, Howard—hated so fiercely that this quarrel with your men will be almost a personal one. They will kill you if you stay here and let them do it."

"Quite possibly."

"Howard, do you tell me you can stay here and face all this without flinching?"

"Oh, no, I didn't say that."

"But you are facing it."

He smiled.

"As I told you yesterday, that is one of the things for which I draw my salary. There is another reason why I want you to go away. When the real pinch comes I shall probably disagree myself and everybody remotely connected with me. I'd a good bit rather be torn into little pieces privately than have you here to be made ashamed again."

She turned away.

"Tell me in so many words what you think will be done tonight. What are you expecting?"

"I told you a few moments ago in the words of the prayer book—battle and murder and sudden death. A strike has been planned, and it will fall. Five minutes after the first strike abandoned train arrives the town will go mad."

She had come close to him again.

"Mother won't go and leave father; that is settled. You must do the best you can, with us for a handiwork. What will you do with us, Howard?"

"I have been thinking about that. The farther you can get away from the shops and the yard, which will be the store center, the safer you will be. I can have the Nadia set out on the Copperette switch, which is a good half mile below the town, with Van Lew and Jeffers to stand guard."

"They will both be here with you," she interrupted.

"Then the alternative is to place the car as near as possible to this building, which will be defended. If there is a riot you can all come up here and be out of the way of chance pistol shots at least."

"Eh?" she faltered. "Is this really civilized America?"

"It's America—without much of the civilization. Now, will you go and tell the others what to expect and send Van Lew to me? I want to tell him just what to do and how to do it while there is time and an undisturbed chance."

CHAPTER XXIV. THE BOSS MACHINIST.

MRS BREWSTER evidently obeyed her instructions precisely, when Van Lew came almost immediately to tap on the door of the superintendent's private room.

"Miss Eleanor said you wanted to see me," he began when Lidgerwood had admitted him, adding, "I was just about to chase out to see what had become of her."

The frank confession of solicitude was not thrown away upon Lidgerwood, and it cost him an effort to put the athlete on a plane of brotherly equality as a comrade in arms. But he compassed it.

"Yes," I asked her to send you up," he replied, then, "I suppose you know what we are confronting, Mr. Van Lew."

"Mrs. Brewster told us as soon as we came back from the hills. Is it likely to be serious?"

"Yes, I wish I could have persuaded Mr. Brewster to order the Nadia out of it. But she has refused to go and leave Mr. Brewster behind."

"I know," said Van Lew. "We have all refused."

"So Miss Brewster has just told me," frowned Lidgerwood. "That being the case, we must make the best of it. How are you fixed for arms in the president's car?"

"I have a hunting rifle, a 44 magazine, and Jeffers has a small armory of revolvers—by-kill."

"Good! The defense of the car, if a riot materializes, will fall upon you two. Judge Holcombe can't be counted on. I'll give you all the help I can spare, but you'll have to furnish the brains. I suppose I don't need to tell you not to take any chances?"

Van Lew shook his head and smiled.

"Not while the dear girl whom, God willing, I'm going to marry is a member of our car party. I'm more likely to be overcautious than reckless, Mr. Lidgerwood."

Here, in terms unmistakable, was a deep grave in which to bury any poor phantom of hope which might have survived, but Lidgerwood did not advertise the funeral.

"She is altogether worthy of the most that you can do for her and the best that you can give her, Mr. Van Lew," he said gravely. "Then he passed quickly to the more vital matter."

"The Nadia will be placed on the short spur track at this end of the building, close in, where you can step from the rear platform of the car to the station platform. I'll try to keep watch for you, but you must also keep watch for yourself. If any thing begins get your people out quietly and bring them up here. Of course none of you will have anything worse than a stray bullet to fear, but the side walls of the Nadia would offer no protection against that."

Van Lew nodded understandingly.

"Call it settled," he said. "Shall I use my own judgment as to the proper moment to make the break, or will you pass us the word?"

Lidgerwood took time to consider. Conditions might arise under which the Crow's Nest would be the most unsafe place in Angola to which to flee for shelter.

"Perhaps you would better sit tight until I give the word," he directed after the reflective pause, then in a lighter vein: "All of these careful precautions may be entirely beside the mark, Mr. Van Lew. I hope the event may prove that they were. Don't let the women worry any more than they have to."

"You can trust me for that," laughed the athlete, and he went his way to begin the keeping up of appearances.

At 7 o'clock, just as Lidgerwood was finishing the luncheon which had been sent up to his office from the station kitchen, train 203 pulled in from the east, and a little later Dawson's belated wrecking train trailed up from the west, bringing the "cripples" from the Little Butte disaster. Lidgerwood summoned McCloskey.

"I wish you would go downstairs and see if Gridley came in on 203. If he did bring him and Benson up here, and we'll hold a council of war. If you see Dawson send him home to his mother and sister. He can report to me later if he finds it safe to leave his womankind."

The door of the outer office had barely closed behind McCloskey when that opening into the corridor swung upon its hinges to admit the master mechanic. He was dusty and travel stained, but nothing seemed to stale his genial good humor.

"Well, well, Mr. Lidgerwood! So the hoboes have asked to see your hand at last, have they?" he began sympathetically. "I heard of it over in Copah just in good time to let me catch 203. You're not going to let them make you show down, are you?"

"No," said Lidgerwood.

"That's right. That's precisely the way to stack it up. Of course you know you can count on me. I've got a beautiful lot of pirates over in the shops, but we'll try to hold them level. Then in the same even tone: "They told me we went into the hole again last night over at Little Butte. Pretty bad?"

"Very bad. Six killed outright and as many more in a very bad way, I am told by the Red Butte doctors."

"Heavens and earth! The men are calling it a broken rail. Was it?"

"A loosened rail," corrected Lidgerwood.

"The master mechanic's eyes narrowed.

"Natural?" he asked.

"No, artificial."

"Gridley swore savagely.

"This thing's got to stop, Lidgerwood! Sift it—sift it to the bottom! Whom do you suspect?"

"It was a plain truth, though an unintentionally misleading one, that the superintendent put into his reply."

"I don't suspect any one, Gridley," he began, and he was going on to say that suspicion had grown to certainty when the latch of the door opening from the outer office clicked again and McCloskey came in with Benson.

The master mechanic excused himself abruptly when he saw who the trainmaster's follower was.

"I'll go and get something to eat," he said hurriedly, "after which I'll pick up a few men whom we can depend upon and garbison the shops. Send over for me if you need me."

Benson looked hard at the door which was still quivering under Gridley's outgoing slam. And when the master mechanic's tread was no longer audible in the upper corridor the young engineer turned to the man at the desk to say, "What tickled the boss mechanic, Lidgerwood?"

"I don't know, why?"

Benson looked at McCloskey.

"Just as we came in he was standing over you with a look in his eyes as if he were about to murder you and couldn't quite make up his mind as to the simplest way of doing it. Then the look changed to his usual cast from smile in the flit of a flea's hind leg—at some joke you were telling, I took it."

Being careful and troubled about many things, Lidgerwood indeed the point of Benson's remark; could not remember when he tried just what it was that he had been saying to Gridley when the interruption came. But the matter was easily dismissed. Having his two chief lieutenants before him, the superintendent seized the opportunity to outline the plan of campaign for the night. McCloskey was to stay by the wires, with Callahan to share his watch. Dawson when he should come down was to pick up a few of the loyal engineers and guard the roundhouse. Benson was to take charge of the yards, keeping his eye on the Nadia. At the first indication of an outbreak he was to pass the word to Van Lew, who would immediately transfer the private car party to the second floor offices in the headquarters building.

"That is all," was Lidgerwood's summing up when he had made his dispositions like a careful commander in chief—"all but one thing. Mac, have you seen anything of Hallock?"

"Not since the middle of the afternoon," was the prompt reply.

"And Judson has not yet reported?"

"No."

"Well, this is for you, Benson—Mac already knows it. Judson is out looking for Hallock. He has a warrant for Hallock's arrest."

Benson's eyes narrowed.

"Then you have found the ringleader at last, have you?" he asked.

"I am sorry to say that there doesn't seem to be any doubt of Hallock's guilt. The arrest will be made quietly. Judson understands that. There is another man that we've got to have, and there is no time just now to go after him."

"Who is the other man?" asked Benson.

"It is Flomister, the man who has the stolen switching engine boxed up in a power house built out of planks saved from your Gloria bridge timbers."

"I told you so!" exclaimed the young engineer. "By Jove, I'll never forgive you if you don't send him to the rock pile for that, Lidgerwood!"

"I have promised to hang him," said the superintendent soberly—"him and the man who has been working with him."

"And that's Franklin Hallock!" cut in the trainmaster indignantly, and his scorn was grotesquely hideous. "Can you hang them, Mr. Lidgerwood?"

"Yes, Flomister and a man whom Judson has identified as Hallock were the two who ditched 201 at Silver Switch last night. The charge in Judson's warrant reads 'train wrecking and murder.'"

The trainmaster smote the desk with his fist.

"I'll add one more strand to the rope—Hallock's rope," he grunted ferociously. "You remember what I told you about that loosened rail that caused the wreck in the Crosswater hills? You said Hallock had gone to Navajo to see Crutshanks. He did go to Navajo, but he got there just exactly four hours after 202 had gone on past Navajo, and he came on foot, walking down the track from the hills!"

"Where did you get that?" asked Lidgerwood quickly.

"From the agent at Navajo. I wasn't satisfied with the way it shaped up, and I did a little investigating on my own hook."

It was close upon 8 o'clock when the two lieutenants went to their respective posts. It was fully an hour further along and the tense strain of suspense was beginning to tell upon the man who sat thoughtful and alone in the second floor office of the Crow's Nest when Benson ran up, to report the situation in the yards.

"Everything quiet so far," was the news he brought. "We've got the Nadia on the east spur, where the folks can slip out and make their getaway if they have to. There are several little squads of the discharged men hanging around, but not many more than usual. The east and west yards are clear, and the three sections of the midnight freight are crewed and ready to pull out when the time comes. The folks are playing dummy whist in the Nadia, and Gridley is holding the fort at the shops with the toughest looking lot of myrmidons you ever laid your eyes on."

Once again Lidgerwood was making his squares on his desk blotter.

"I'm thankful that the news of the strike got to Copah in time to bring Gridley over on 203," he said.

Benson's boyish eyes opened to their widest angle.

"Did he say he came in on two-three?" he asked.

"He did."

"Well, that's odd—devilish odd. I was on that train, and I rammed it from one end to the other, which is a bad habit I have when I'm trying to kill travel time. Gridley isn't a man to be easily overlooked. He's been riding on the back beams. He was dirty enough to make the guess good. Hello, Fred!"—this to Dawson, who had at that moment let himself in through the deserted outer office. "We were just talking about your boss and wondering how he got here from Copah on two-three without my seeing him."

"He didn't come from Copah," said the draftsman briefly. "He came in with me from the west on the wrecking train. He was in Red Butte, and he had an engine bring him down to Silver Switch, where he caught us just as we were pulling out."

(To be Continued.)

A Conservative Method.

"When you make a speech you never tell us anything we didn't know," said the constituent. "Of course," replied Senator Sorghum. "The idea in addressing people is to express their own ideas. Then they give you credit for being a smart man because you agree with them."

Slighted Opportunity.

"So you think music is a waste of time?" "Yes," replied Mr. Wallop. "I understand some of these professional pianists practise five hours a day. Think what golf players they might have become in that time."

Much More.

The man who is able to do the right thing at the right time and in the right place may be a genius, but it is more likely that he's lucky.

FORTY YEARS AGO

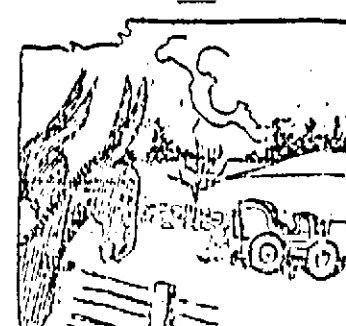

The Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday, August 11, 1871.—
Struck by Lightning.
About nine o'clock last evening the lightning struck a stack of barley in the stock yard of J. Corey, near Footville, in which there were fourteen other stacks. As soon as the fire was discovered the neighbors of Mr. Corey went to his assistance and by great exertions the fire was so controlled that but two stacks were burned, containing about three hundred bushels. The grain was insured in the Madison Mutual.

This portion of the county was visited by another furious thunderstorm last night accompanied by a profusion of rain and a light gale of wind. The flashing of the lightning and the crashing of the thunder, were almost incessant between eight and nine o'clock, but no disasters resulted from the electric discharge. These frequent storms are interfering with grain stacking operations, and a larger portion of the wheat, barley and oats in this section are still in sheaf.

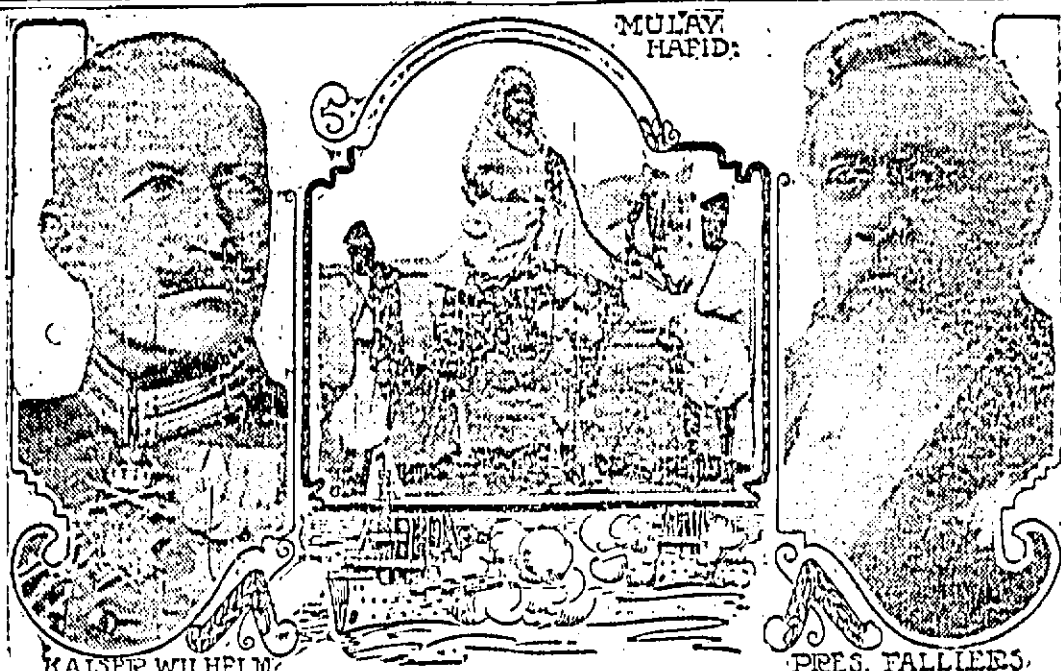

A GOOD SOCIETY REPORTER.

VERY STUBBORN.

The Editor—One of the proofreaders complains of your spelling of "beauty." How did you spell it?
New Reporter—"Beauty."
The Editor—Ah! I see you have an "i" for beauty.

First Male—Them autos is taking all our glory.
Second Male—That's so; they've been trying for an hour to get it to move.

EUROPE TREMBLES WITH AGITATION OVER MOROCCAN QUESTION.
Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, Mulay Hafid, the ruling power in Morocco, and President Fallieres of France, London, England.—While France and Germany ostensibly are talking peace, it is known that each country is secretly reorganizing their forces. Germany has called out her reserves, France is strengthening her cavalry and all Europe is uneasy feeling that an open breach may break at any time.
It is now conceded on all sides that the straightforward speech of Premier Assoluth in the matter will do more to solve the difficulties of Germany and France than any other move could possibly have done.

An Ancient Custom.

WISCONSIN HEADS THE LIST
When looking over the country for a location do not overlook the fact that Wisconsin heads the list in the production of fine grades of blooded cattle, sheep and hogs and from these three more money can be made in a given time than from almost any other kind of an investment.
Sawyer County land is peculiarly fitted as a home for stock of all kinds. It is the natural home of the Red and White Clover, both tame and wild grasses grow in luxuriance, and all the natural conditions of Climate, Water and Soil surround this part of our State.
It also has the advantage of good soil, good markets, Schools, Churches, and good roads. A good class of citizens surround you, and you have all the advantages of an old settled community in a new country. And best of all in the fact that you can sell your land in this part of the State ranging from $5.00 per acre to $20.00 per acre and give you TEN years in which to pay for it. Look into this proposition as you will not find its equal anywhere.
A call puts you under no obligation to buy. Come in and let us reason together.
